THE SERVICE AWARD DINNER tonight (October 28) at 6:30 o'clock, Crown Zellerbach Inn, honors 195 men and women with years of employment ranging from 5 to 35 years. Awards will be presented by Reed O. Hunt, Vice President, Crown Zellerbach Corporation. Mr. Hunt feels at home when he returns to Camas for he came here as assistant office manager in 1934 and returned here as office manager in 1942 after having spent the intervening years as office manager at West Linn. He started with the Company 27 years ago as store room clerk at Port Angeles. From office manager here he went to Headquarters as assistant to the late Albert Bankus. In 1952, Mr. Hunt was elected vice president in charge of manufacturing. Mr. Hunt will address the supervisors today at 11:00 A.M. on items of current interest in our corporate affairs.

"THE NATIONAL SAFETY CONGRESS is important to people in all industries," Jack Robertson, safety supervisor, stated this week. He returned Sunday from Chicago where he was one of 12,000 delegates to the huge safety conference with sessions scheduled in five different hotels. "The inspiration of a meeting like that is terrific," Jack said. "It makes a fellow want to pick out the best he's learned and hurry back home to start using the new methods to help somebody." By means of reports and application of what he's learned, Jack hopes to help employees to work more safely than ever. Several Crown men were in attendance including Vic Gault, general safety supervisor for the Corporation.

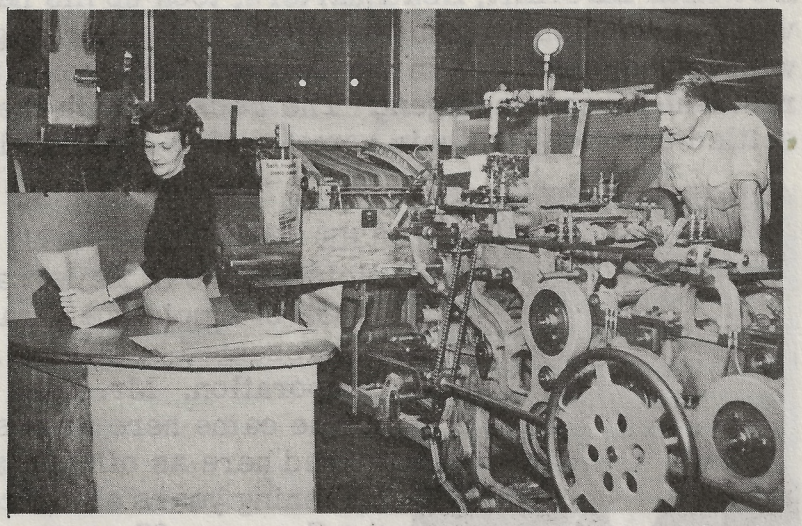
S.O.S. BAGS (self-opening style) is one of CZ's newer products making a good place for itself in the grocery market. These are known as self-opening carry bags used at check-out stands in stores for the packing and carrying of items which the buyer has purchased. These offer the advantage of standing alone, even when unfilled. The mouth stays wide open to facilitate packing, thus making possible faster service to the customer. Two machines in the bag factory are making these bags from 50 and 60 lb. basis weight Crown kraft paper manufactured on paper machines #4, 6, and 15.



Claire Seekins, operator, and Mildred Tidland, tender, at #290 self-opening style bag machine.
